ACADEMIC FAMILY PHYSICIAN
ST. MICHAEL’S DEPARTMENT OF FAMILY & COMMUNITY MEDICINE
AND ACADEMIC FAMILY HEALTH TEAM

St. Michael’s Academic Family Health Team is inviting applications from a qualified family physician for a full-time academic clinician teacher to take over half of an existing general practice (~850 patients) located at the 61 Queen Family Practice Unit. The successful candidate must be a family physician with a demonstrated interest in working with marginalized populations in an inner-city context. Candidates will have an ability to work within an anti-oppression framework; and understand and appreciate the diversity of our patient population and community.

Candidates must hold a MD degree, have a medical license to practice in Ontario, and certification in Family Medicine from the College of Family Physicians of Canada. Interest in working with complex patients and prior clinical experience will be considered assets for the role. The candidate will have a strong interest in teaching learners and practicing in a team-based model. Responsibilities will include providing comprehensive clinical care and teaching undergraduate and postgraduate learners.

The successful candidate should be eligible for an academic appointment within the Department of Family and Community Medicine at the University of Toronto.

Further details about this exciting opportunity available upon request.

Start date: July/August 2024

St. Michael’s is Canada’s leading Catholic Academic Health Sciences Center, fully affiliated with the University of Toronto, and is part of Unity Health Toronto, a network that includes St. Joseph’s Health Centre and Providence Healthcare. The St. Michael’s Department of Family and Community Medicine and Academic Family Health Team is a large dynamic and diverse group comprised of five Family Medicine clinics, all located in Toronto’s downtown core serving 50,000 patients. St. Michael’s Department of Family and Community Medicine is strongly committed to the care of the inner-city population. Its mission is to improve health through advocacy, equity and world leading primary health care, teaching and research.

Unity Health Toronto’s commitment to anti-racism, equity and social accountability is essential to our ability to provide exceptional care experiences and to drive research and academic excellence. We encourage applications from qualified candidates and especially welcome applicants who are Indigenous, Black or racialized, persons with disabilities, people who identify as LGBTQ2+, and all others who may contribute to the further diversification of ideas.

Qualified candidates are invited to forward a letter of interest including curriculum vitae via e-mail, no later than February 5, 2024 to:
